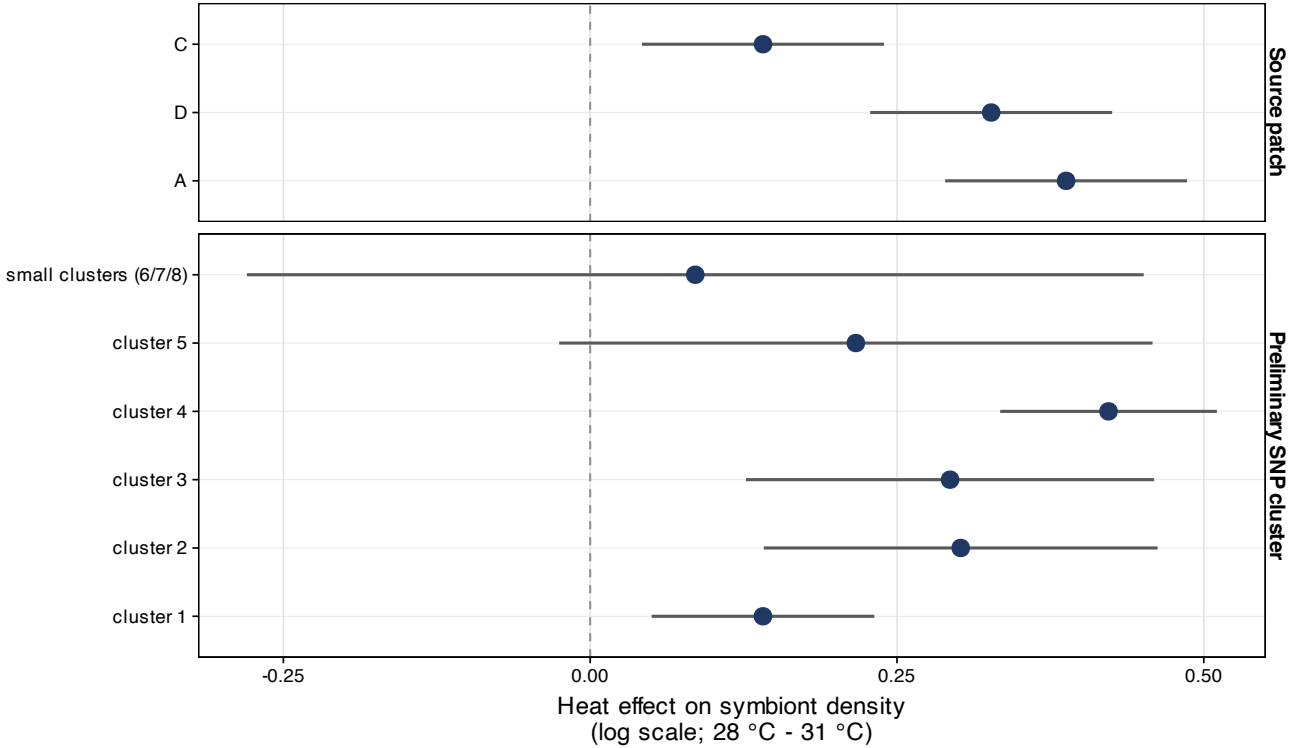
Direct DNA-marker check: symbiont density

Only symbiont density was measured on the same 144 RNA-seq fragments. Positive values mean fewer symbionts at 31 °C after comparing fragments with the same wound state and sampling day. Horizontal lines show exploratory uncertainty.



The comparison includes wound state and RNA-seq sampling day. Cluster estimates use preliminary after-the-fact groups; clusters with fewer than six RNA-seq libraries are combined.